

(1) Universe let me be perfect. Unless one's living nicely, they aren't a rational advisor. Unless one's living fairly they aren't a rational advisor. Like we cannot remember what happened 2 weeks ago at tea time on this day, so shall we forget the pain of this day sometime. Masters of music are proof, mountain hikers are proof, great accomplishments are doable! What are your aims? What are your objectives? What are the objectives today? What is the plan for today? What is the wisest most perfect use of this hour? What is the most perfectly ideal use of this day? What is the most ideal, clever and proper way to order your activities today? If you don't write a plan down you'll probably regret it! Considering the days to come, what are the objectives today? What is the most perfect use of this hour? It's only today, intellectual experimentation can provide results! That humans can adapt to run marathons great feats can be done! What are the objectives? The transition from the civil rights movement in the 1960's to the widespread allancehip, and supportive advocacy for rainbow pride marks a major milestone. These are better times. We're living through a beautiful drama of proven progress. Life's your canvas. The use of language may open minds to possibilities and close minds away from possibilities. What is the most ideal and fair use of language possible for the most ideal manifestation of consciousness to emerge? To question quest is powerfully advantageous. What are the most ideal questions? Is this thought process going to empower you to handle the situation any better? To be realistic can save resources - What are you even going to do about each thing?

(4) I shall surely be successful in my afterlife if I abide in goodness, considerateness, harmoniousness and fairness, if I diligently plan for the consideration of the two futures (the here and the hereafter) with a quality sufficient to ensure existential success, if I ensure that all comprehend my benevolence and decency by communicating visually through my outer appearance, if I abide in the reality that each emotion matters and if I abide by the diligent consideration of the speck by speck Choice.

Beauty is a medicine to the spirit, and a saint's smile is a medicine to a saint. For a saint to live without pleasure is hideous to the heavens. To take pleasures in vain is ugly to divinity, but for a saint to live without pleasure is hideous to the heavens.

What is the destination? The future is coming - What is the most harmonious, orderly, fair and ideal? What are the objectives? What are the goals? What is the plan for now? What is the wisest most perfect use of this hour? What is the most perfectly ideal use of this day? What is the most ideal, clever and proper way to order your activities today? What is a mental mode that is for now the most ideal?

For more information, free music downloads, a free herbal book, and to find this document online, visit:
archive.org/details/46204620

(2) Engaging in promoting understanding, facilitating ecstatic happiness and expanding opportunities for love can improve the world. A paradigm shift and persisting bliss most rapidly can happen. If you really surely know you have the correct trajectory, then to be bold and go is what you need to do. What is the destination? The future is coming - What is the most ideal?

How might one go to a heavenly realm? Like getting into a good country would require having a good name, it would be reasonable to assert that ascending into a nice place in a heaven requires an impeccably good inner name.

One must have an impeccable inner name to be able to rise to a good domain.

I shall surely be successful in my afterlife if I abide in goodness, considerateness, harmoniousness and fairness, if I diligently plan for the consideration of the two futures (the here and the hereafter) with a quality sufficient to ensure existential success, if I ensure that all comprehend my benevolence and decency by communicating visually through my outer appearance, if I abide in the reality that each emotion matters and if I abide by the diligent consideration of the speck by speck Choice.

A Recitation:

To have knowledge of the heavenly celestial choice over the doings of all beings is highly advantageous. One must live by fair ways as heavenly doors close by each wrong action done. One must live by fair ways as heavenly doors open by each good action done. One must live by fair ways as heavenly doors close by each wrong action done. One must live by fair ways as heavenly doors open by each good action done. A Being thrives by living a life of fairness. Choice! Choice! Choice! Choice!

One must live by fair ways as heavenly doors open by each good action done. A Being thrives by living a life of fairness. Choice! Choice! Choice! Choice!

(3) To consider the heavenly celestial choice over the doings of your soul as inevitable is sage. As the common desire of all is bliss, this common desire drives change, and as harmony is a prerequisite for bliss, and as fairness is a prerequisite for the two, and as developing fairness reliably involves higher minds passing inspections and choices over the doings of all beings wherein each one fairly receives recompense speck by speck, and as the angelic divinities have - although unbeknownst to many - clairvoyant knowing, therefore all should plan for the celestial heavenly choice over the soul. By extrapolative reasoning, it is evident the common desire of all shall drive change away from discord, to fairness via the celestial choice, to harmony and onward to bliss inevitably. Every action has unavoidable consequences. One who lives in planning for the heavenly choice over the soul has advantages. Breath by breath, word by word, to let particular fairness be vitalized is to make way for harmony, and also bliss. It is wise to be fair, ideal, nice and honorable. Doors to better things do open by good doings.

Choice! Choice! Choice! Choice! One must live by fair ways as heavenly doors close by each wrong action done. One must live by fair ways as heavenly doors open by each good action done. One must live by fair ways as heavenly doors close by each wrong action done. One must live by fair ways as heavenly doors open by each good action done.

Choice! Choice! Choice! Choice!

Please Recycle!

